Statement of Significance for 523 N. Colorado
San Antonio, Texas

The commercial structure at 523 N. Colorado occupies the Southwest corner of N. Colorado and Morales Streets. Corner stores, called tiendas or tienditas, were common throughout San Antonio until after World War II before the interstate system and large chain grocery stores changed the way people obtained their groceries.

The structure was constructed by 1935 at the latest. A one-story store building first appears on the 1935 Sanborn map with an address of 525 Morales. At that time, a residence was attached to the store with an address of 523 Morales. The property appears in the City Directory by 1915, but any indication of a commercial use at this address doesn't appear in the directories until 1940 at the latest when Mrs. Concepcion Martinez was listed as living at that address as a grocer. The 1951 City Directory indicates that The Little Grocery Store operated out of this address. The attached house originally listed at 523 Morales is now gone.

This property exemplifies the typical early 20th century, small-scale commercial structures seen on the Westside of San Antonio. The store has a false front parapet, a common feature on shop buildings, and the Sanborn maps indicated a porch on the front, most likely an awning that extended out from the front of the shop. This is a rapidly disappearing resource type throughout San Antonio's inner city neighborhoods.

The property at 523 N. Colorado meets the following criteria for local landmark designation:

Its historical, architectural or cultural character as a particularly fine or unique example of a utilitarian structure, including, but not limited to, bridges, acequias, gas stations, transportation shelters, or other commercial structures [35-607(b)6];

It is distinctive in character, interest or value; strongly exemplifies the cultural, economic, social, ethnic or historical heritage of San Antonio, Texas or the United States [35-607(b)11];

It is an important example of a particular architectural type or specimen [35-607(b)12];

It represents a resource, whether natural or man-made, which greatly contributes to the character or image of a defined neighborhood or community area [35-607(b)15];
