Describe your Volunteer Experience & Community Service	San Antonio Bar Association Community Justice Program, Pro Bono Attorney 2011-present San

	Antonio Young Lawyers Association, Community Service Committee Chair 2016-17 Karnes City Immigration Pro Bono Project, Volunteer Attorney, 2014-present
Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	I am applying to serve on the Board of Trustees for VIA MTA because I am passionate about public transportation and its ability to serve the needs of disadvantaged citizens while also relieving traffic, reducing environmental impact, and facilitating tourism and domestic immigration to the city. Beginning in 2012, I resolved to depend as much as possible on public transportation to support these goals both financially and as a matter of principle. That year, I sold my car and began taking VIA buses to work and meetings all over the city. Through nearly four years of experience in relying on VIA, I learned about many of its strengths and shortcomings, which I would bring to the table on the VIA board. After changing jobs in 2016, my new office, near Highway 281 and Isom, was simply not served in any way whatsoever by VIA, and I was forced to purchase personal transportation again. Nevertheless, I continue to believe that the growth

	and improvement of VIA is a necessary component of building the City we deserve. Though I have been in San Antonio for a decade, I grew up in Corpus Christi where I constantly relied on public transportation. Raised primarily by my fixed-income grandparents, Corpus Christi's "B" buses were a staple in my childhood, and I learned very early how to use that system to get to school and work. I continued using the systems in Waco and Austin through college. In 2016, prior to accepting my current job, I also worked in Houston for four months, commuting back and forth without a personal vehicle. I used the mega-bus between cities and navigated Houston's Metro Rail and bus system too and from stations, work, and recreation. Using the Houston system last year (and being so impressed with what its additional funding is able to accomplish) is the primary reason I decided to seek appointment to the VIA board--in the hope that my experience and vision can help VIA better serve the residents of San Antonio.

Describe your Volunteer Experience & Community Service	From serving as PTSA VP at my alma mater, Sam Houston High, to serving as a co-chair for the 2017 CoSA Bond Parks and Rec Committee, I have been honored to contribute to my community/city

	in various ways since returning to San Antonio. I am always excited to serve in these positions in an effort to ensure I am contributing to creating a better environment for the next generation of San Antonians.
Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	Growing up in San Antonio, I noticed that only low-income residents and the disabled rode the bus. It wasn't until I was able to travel the world until I realized that public transportation could provide not only an affordable means of mobility, but could also provide convenience. I moved to Houston for about nine months in 2013-2014. While I was there I rode public transit and/or walked. I truly enjoyed the ease of it all and noticed that the folks I say on Houston's public transit differed from the demographics I remembered as a kid in San Antonio. When I returned to San Antonio, I kept my routine of riding the bus. My wife and I become a one-car household and I committed to public transit and/or riding my bike. This is when I began to focus in on the improvements that could be made to our public transportation system in an effort to not only make it better for those who depend on it everyday, but also make it

	convenient for those who were able to make a choice between driving and riding. Long story short, I am now the Chair of the VIA Transit Community Council. We are tasked with focusing on how VIA can think outside of the box regarding their 2040 Vision Plan. From leveraging partnerships, to building respect and credibility among the community they serve and the communities they hope to serve in the future, we are helping to guide VIA in a direction that will allow them to truly become THE choice in transit in our great city. As we finish up our Strategy portion of the VTCC in the next couple of months, I believe being appointed to the VIA Board would allow me to utilize the knowledge and experience that I have gained from the VTCC in order to push the organization further and ensure our city and it's residents support that same forward-thinking.

Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	I grew up in San Antonio in the Beacon Hill neighborhood not far from the once and future location of Chris Madrids. I graduated from Edison High School as valedictorian in 1994 and attended U. T. Austin. After obtaining my undergraduate degree in music, I was a teacher at Whitter and Harris Middle Schools (S.A.I.S.D.) for six years. I was also an Algebra tutor at St. Philips College for a few semesters during that time. I left the teaching field for law school at St. Marys University in 2005 and graduated first in my law school class. For nearly 10 year, my law practice has been focused in the fields of natural resources, real estate, land use and courtroom practice. I am often called upon to settle disputes among competing land uses and other matters. I also have extensive experience with contract negotiation, drafting, interpretation and dispute resolution. Puro San Antonio is hard to define. For those of us who grew up in it and have always been surrounded by it, there is a shared passion for the unique culture of the city we love. The challenge of the next few years will be working to maintain that culture while addressing the challenges surrounding equity, affordable housing, air quality, climate, and traffic congestion, all of which will be exacerbated by tremendous population growth. A city of near 450 square miles

	spreads our limited resources thinly. We must turn our focus to growth opportunities within our current boundaries to create sustainable growth for the future. We must work to create an environment that is fair, just, clean, enjoyable and that provides a stable economic platform for residents from all walks of life. No single issue addresses all of these challenges as much as public transportation and mobility. I firmly believe that the course of the next fifty years for San Antonio will be decided in the next five. To enable the denser development that will be necessary to foster sustainable growth, ease traffic congestion, improve air quality, reduce the effects of gentrification, and facilitate meaningful affordable housing initiatives, I believe that San Antonio needs a world-class public transportation system built around the present VIA Corridors initiative. We cannot afford to wait any longer, or the formidable obstacles to implementation will become overwhelming. This sense of urgency will require an intense effort towards improving the funding mechanisms for public transportation and public transportation infrastructure in the VIA service area. That will be my primary focus as a member of the VIA board if I am appointed. Thank you.

Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	First and foremost, I am all about San Antonio. I was born and raised here and fully intend to stay here, raise a family and continuously seek out the most effective ways that I can be an active contributor to the people of my hometown. I believe in bold leadership, confronting the hard questions and making big dreams come true. My neighbors in San Antonio deserve to have the best representation possible at all levels of government and I know that I have a place in ensuring that reality. I firmly believe in representing everyone in the community regardless of socioeconomic background or political perspective. I also believe that people who do not have a voice or yet know how to use it, deserve someone that can recognize this, hear what it is that they need, and project that voice into the general discourse of our community. I have long been fascinated with the relationship between the way we get around, the places we are going to and the places we are coming from. This includes everything from infrastructure and policy, to behavior and impact to the built and natural environment. There is often discussion about public transit specifically, and only its relationship to development and density, when in fact, any form of transportation and all aspects of the built environment are always related. Early in my career, I was presented with the opportunity to become a regular user of VIA. Having been to other cities in the U.S. and around the world, and using public transportation to get around in those places, I figured that since my home and work were both along a couple of frequent bus routes, that I could get rid of my car and ride VIA, which I did every day for the next 5 years. I got to understand the system, but more importantly, I got to really experience things like the quality of the walk between my house and the bus stop, what its like to carry groceries for a long distance, how to find shade while waiting for the bus on a hot day and how to be courteous to people that might need my seat on the bus more than I really did. These are all aspects of the social interaction and pedestrian condition that are too often not included in the prevailing discourse surrounding public transportation. I still use VIA today, though not as my sole mode of transportation like those early days. That experience really helped shape how I approach planning for transportation and land use initiatives in my career, and helped me to jump right in and be a truly active participant in the expanding portfolio of mobility options that our traveling public has at their fingertips today. Having recently worked at VIA, I have a clear understanding of just how much our sole local transit authority needs to be better prepared to play an effective role as one of several mobility options we now have available to us in San Antonio. I also understand that there are limited public funds available to deliver transit service the way VIA does it today, and that there are several other great solutions that have come to market that have also not quite figured out how they fit best into a comprehensive mobility network that allows our

	community to maintain and expand its economic vitality. Getting this done will require solid partnerships with other public entities such as Texas Department of Transportation and City of San Antonio. I spent a decade at VIA trying to build and grow those relationships at the staff level, and as a result, a lot of work has been done together, and there is greater awareness of what each agency's role is in helping the other to deliver the best results for our community. In addition to those, VIA needs to establish partnerships with the private sector and other organizations to innovate and continue to figure out how it can best serve this community. San Antonio might be the best City, but it is just one city out of many smaller suburban communities in the region. Additionally, this region is very closely tied to that of our neighbors to the north surrounding Austin. There are likely solutions out there that can greatly improve how mobility services are delivered to the residents of San Antonio that will require some other entity or larger partnership to be able to implement. Again, how VIA fits into this larger scope of mobility services will be imperative to ensuring that this region can absorb a million new residents and continue to thrive economically. Within the time horizon of the long range plan VIA Vision 2040 air quality requirements, land development, demands on the overall mobility network and innovations in mobility access will change and evolve. We need to better understand how the agency fits into that future and how the residents that depend on VIA daily don't get left behind or continue to have to wait an hour for a bus to arrive on any route at any point during the day. There's a better way to put it all together and I'm interested in continuing to directly participate in figuring out how to make

Jason Rodriguez

Senior Planner

As a senior transportation planning professional, Mr. Rodriguez has been called upon to lead a variety of projects because of his strategic approach to understanding the needs and opportunities associated with every project and collaborating across disciplines to problem-solve and find viable solutions. He understands the challenges associated with developing projects in an environment of innovation and a growing population with various demands on available resources. Mr. Rodriguez has managed a variety of projects ranging from siting, conceptual design and planning of transit facilities and services, to mobility planning at arterial, district and regional scales. He has valuable experience with integrating community planning initiatives across agencies and working toward a shared vision and responsibility for delivering innovative policy collaborations, efficient service partnerships and coordinated capital investment.

Mr. Rodriguez's leadership skills, team building, project management and sensitivity for local affairs that may have bearing on how a project may be developed over time, have positioned him as a reliable Project Manager for a broad range of projects requiring political, policy, and technical understanding. Mr. Rodriguez has an awareness of the challenges that come with new projects or changing circumstances and takes pride in helping organizations achieve project and program objectives while developing teams that continue to deliver value in the process.

Recent Key Projects

VIA Rapid Transit Corridor Studies – Mr. Rodriguez served as the Project Manager for VIA's Rapid Transit Corridor Studies. His responsibilities entailed leading a dynamic cross-departmental team in an effort to select specific routes in 7 different corridors across the greater San Antonio region that were identified in the VIA Vision 2040 Long Range Plan as candidates for implementing either Light Rail Transit or Bus Rapid Transit infrastructure. The studies identified specific arterials through a technical alternatives analysis and were closely coordinated with other local planning initiatives. Responsibilities included leading transportation professionals in determining and analyzing alternative route alignments that best serve regional travel patterns, provide access to the most residents and employees, and have the greatest feasibility for implementing transit-only lanes dedicated to maintaining a rapid and reliable travel option for people in San Antonio. Mr. Rodriguez also served in an advisory role during this process when working with City of San Antonio's recently adopted SA Corridors transit supportive land use plan, which serves as a framework for how development and infrastructure can be coordinated with community investments in Rapid Transit infrastructure. In addition to those responsibilities, Mr. Rodriguez led the coordination and oversight of alternative concept development, operational planning, public involvement and project prioritization.

VIA Vision 2040 Long Range Plan – Mr. Rodriguez was responsible for managing a cross-departmental team at VIA to develop an updated Long Range Plan for public transit services in the greater San Antonio region. Mr. Rodriguez was also primarily responsible for ensuring that VIA Vision 2040 was well coordinated with the simultaneous development of SA Tomorrow, the comprehensive plan for the City of San Antonio. VIA Vision 2040 identified solutions for an improved and frequent core bus network, highlighted corridors with the best opportunity for effective and reliable rapid transit services, and outlined innovative solutions for developing the role of public transportation in the broader mobility sharing economy, and coordinating transportation, land use and affordability policies to simplify the ability to deliver efficient, quality public services. A transit plan is never only about the transit system. It is also about finding ways to strategically invest in infrastructure and integrate with related mobility services in such a way that provides the greatest number of residents in a City with the best mobility options between where they live and where they need to travel.

North-Central Corridor Light Rail Feasibility Analysis – Mr. Rodriguez served as Project Manager for this effort, which was solely intended to understand the challenges and opportunities associated with building a Light Rail Transit connection specifically between San Antonio International Airport and downtown San Antonio, primarily along San Pedro Ave. The study looked at three primary alternatives for making the rail connection by traveling through a higher density, established if not historic part of the city, up to a much wider arterial right-of-way with surplus capacity that could be used for dedicated transit infrastructure. These considerations included re-appropriation of narrower City streets primarily for transit use, construction of a separate, but parallel route along the Union Pacific Austin Mainline 1 Subdivision, and the construction of a fully grade-separated and parallel tunnel. The study also included a review of the latest guidance and research on the topic of ground transportation services to Airports as well as an analysis of ways to provide a landside connection to the Light Rail service. This study included an existing conditions analysis related to each light rail alternative along a specified conceptual alignment, an operating plan, capital and operating cost estimates and development of schematic-level design options at many of the most challenging areas of each route.

JASON RODRIGUEZ

Kerrville Subdivision Use Study – Mr. Rodriguez was tasked with managing a team of transportation professionals who were responsible for performing a thorough examination of a freight railroad short line owned and operated by Union Pacific, called the Kerrville Subdivision. The purpose of the study was to understand the condition of the railroad and determine the feasibility of its eventual conversion to a public transportation facility including Commuter Rail, Light Rail or Bus Rapid Transit; or, a hike and bike trail facility. Should the short line ever be abandoned, this document provides potential solutions for considering a number of alternative treatments, including challenges, opportunities and costs of each. It also provides a series of case studies about various short line railroads across the country that have been acquired by a local or regional agency and adapted for a different use.

Robert Thompson Station Area Vision Plan – Mr. Rodriguez served as the Project Manager for this effort, which was primarily focused on gaining an understanding of market conditions and development potential in the immediate vicinity of VIA's Robert Thompson Transit Station. Partnered with a private developer, VIA was in the process of redesigning the facility to serve as a joint development venture and wanted to gain a better understanding of the greater development potential in the area for which their project would serve as a catalyst. The plan includes an economic and demographic framework that outlines current housing and retail market potentials, which then informs a conceptual plan that illustrates how these market conditions can be realized as a vibrant urban community, oriented around a public transportation investment.

VIA Villa Vision Plan – Mr. Rodriguez served as Project Manager for this effort, which was primarily focused on understanding the spatial and infrastructural requirements for implementing major public transit services to VIA's Centro Plaza on the west end of downtown San Antonio. VIA Villa is centered on Centro Plaza and the historic International & Great Northern Rail Depot. While Centro Plaza currently serves almost 4,000 daily trips on 17 bus routes, the community dialogue often includes ideas of adding inter-city bus and various passenger rail services while sharing a constrained space with one of the region's busiest and fastest growing freight railroads. The Vision Plan is meant to inspire the community and act as a tool for facilitating dialogue about future growth and development in the area.

Transit Supportive Land Use Guidance – Mr. Rodriguez served as Project Manager for the development of several tools for local governments, agencies and developers to use when establishing independent strategies for development and investment policies related to transportation infrastructure and supportive of transit use. This guidance was proposed to position San Antonio to be more competitive for various Federal grants for transit infrastructure and to encourage developers of new projects to facilitate access to transit as a viable travel option for their end user.

JASON RODRIGUEZ

Strategic Plan for Transit Station Areas in the Greater San Antonio Region – the focus of this plan is to provide an applied framework for considerations that are relevant to creating station area plans related to VIA's Rapid Transit Corridors. City of San Antonio was the first City to develop its own framework, SA Corridors, as a result of this work.

Guide to Transit Supportive Land Use – this is a general guidance document that communicates the opportunities, benefits and components of Transit Supportive Land Use for a broad audience.

Transit Supportive Land Use Toolkit – this is a compilation of best practices, recommendations and implementation steps for establishing transit supportive land use policies. It includes an evaluation of current policies in various municipalities in the greater San Antonio region.

VIA Strategic Planning Processes and Procedures – Mr. Rodriguez was the sole author of VIA's process and procedures document for the Strategic Planning Department. The purpose of this document was to provide a consistent and objective, documented approach to how VIA engages the planning process for each project with regard to research, incorporation of the latest best-practices and ultimately keeping the Long Range Plan up to date, which frames the agency's Capital Improvement Program. The document serves as guidance for Strategic Planning staff and for maintaining consistency among various contracted staff that participate and assist with these activities.

San Antonio Modern Streetcar Project – Mr. Rodriguez served as VIA's Project Manager for the local Modern Streetcar project from its initial feasibility study through project development over a 5-year period. Over the course of developing this project, Mr. Rodriguez took a leadership role in building a foundation for interagency coordination on transit and development investment initiatives within the City thereafter. He was directly involved in each step of the process as outlined below:

Inner-City Rail Streetcar Feasibility Study – the focus of this effort was to determine the feasibility of implementing a rail streetcar in the downtown San Antonio environment. This included opportunities related to how new proposed developments, existing community assets and prevailing travel patterns could all be connected by an urban circulator network.

Economic Impact of Streetcar in San Antonio – as the feasibility study drew to completion, this study was commissioned to determine what the economic impact of constructing a streetcar would have on San Antonio's local economy from a job creation/sales revenue perspective and an ad valorem revenue/value capture point of view.

Urban Corridor Alternatives Analysis – the focus of this effort was to determine specific preferred alignments for 3 generally feasible streetcar routes through downtown San Antonio and gain a better understanding of possible environmental impacts and primary cost drivers. This resulted in defining 3 separate preferred streetcar routes through downtown.

Streetcar Project Development – the primary deliverable for this aspect of the project included a 30% design submittal and a Draft Environmental Assessment. Other topics covered during the Project Development process included vehicle specification, design of a vehicle maintenance facility, utility relocation plans, urban design around stations and coordination with Federal Transit Administration Region VI.

JASON RODRIGUEZ

VIA Downtown Service Plan – Mr. Rodriguez served as the Project Manager for this effort, which was intended to evaluate multiple transit routing configurations for the entirety of VIA's 48 bus routes operating in downtown San Antonio. The plan investigated impacts and opportunities associated with restructuring routes related to passenger waiting amenities, transit ridership, overall traffic operations and the possibility of increasing service levels over time in one of the busiest and rapidly growing districts in the region.

Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	I have had the opportunity to serve on the VIA Board for almost two years and have learned a lot about the agency and transportation. As Chair of the Audit Committee I have been working closely with the Internal Auditor and Jeff Arndt to make sure that VIA is running as efficiently and effectively as possible. VIA has made great progress over the last two years as they have begun to replace their aging, diesel-powered fleet with CNG buses allowing for a $5 million dollar savings in fuel in one year. In addition, VIA launched an App where riders can purchase tickets and plan their trips electronically. Lastly, with the help from the City VIA was able to increase the frequency of several popular routes. However, we still have a long way to go in becoming a multi-modal system. In addition, we need to increase ridership and find a long-term additional revenue stream. I am seeking reappointment because I would like to continue that work. I feel that I bring a valuable expertise to the Board as I am the only member with municipal finance background. Also, I believe it's important to have some continuity with board members because they are already familiar with ongoing projects and have a bit of organizational knowledge.

Please provide a brief narrative outlining your reasons for seeking appointment to this board or commission:	My father was a bus driver for over 30 years. I rode the trolleys through downtown as a little girl and I have seen VIA change its service options to remain relevant. I appreciate the labor and dedication required to deliver a courteous, reliable, and efficient transportation system that this City is proud of. I also understand the tremendous growth to come and the opportunity that San Antonio has to seize now a plan for this future development. As a lawyer, I will strive to bring an objective, common-sense and cost-benefit approach to my input on this Board and hope I can be of service.

Sonia M. Rodriguez

SONIA M. RODRIGUEZ was born and raised in San Antonio. She is a product of the San Antonio Independent School District (SAISD), having graduated from Burbank High School and is the first in her family to graduate from college. She received a B.A. in Political Science from the University of North Texas (1995) and a J.D. from St. Mary's University School of Law (1999). While in law school, Sonia co-founded The Scholar: St. Mary's Law Review on Race and Social Justice. The law journal is in its 19th year of publication.

Today, she is an equity partner in Branton | Hall | Rodriguez | Cruz, P.C., and focuses her law practice on the litigation, trial and appeal of civil matters, including personal injury and wrongful death cases. Sonia is licensed to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and in each of the federal district courts in Texas. She has helped thousands of clients and recovered millions of dollars for injury victims in Texas. Sonia is rated as AV Preeminent® by the Martindale-Hubbell® Peer Review Ratings™. This reflects peer review at the highest level for ethical standards and legal ability.

Sonia is a Sustaining Member of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association (TTLA) and serves on TTLA's Finance Committee. She is also a Past-President of the San Antonio Trial Lawyers Association (SATLA). Sonia has served on the Litigation Council of the State Bar of Texas, the State Bar's Committee of Pattern Jury Charges (Malpractice – Premises – Products) and is a member of various local bar associations.

She is the Chairperson of SA2020, Inc., (SA2020). SA2020 is a non-profit organization that measures progress in the City and aligns community efforts toward the community's vision for San Antonio. Launched from a grassroots effort convened by Mayor Julián Castro in 2010, SA2020 collaborates with public and private partners, as well as the community at-large, using data to drive coordinated action.

Since 2008, Sonia has served on the Board of Advisors of the San Antonio Young Women's Leadership Academy (YWLA) in SAISD. YWLA is the first and only all-girls public school in the City. Sonia also currently serves as Secretary of the SAISD Foundation.

Sonia previously served as the Chairwoman of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women (MCSW), having been initially appointed by Mayor Phil Hardberger in 2008, and re-appointed by Mayor Julián Castro. During her tenure, the MCSW commissioned and published A Study on the Status of Women and Girls in San Antonio, which shed light on a teen pregnancy crisis in San Antonio and served to ignite conversations with City leaders about prevention. With the support of the Office of the City Manager, the MCSW launched an annual commemoration of International Women's Day, with proceeds benefiting a scholarship fund at the San Antonio Area Foundation. The fund has benefited hundreds of women and girls since its inception.

In 2009, Sonia was inducted into the San Antonio Women's Hall of Fame, for her professional and civic contributions. She has received multiple awards, including the SAISD Foundation's Inspire Award (Leadership) in 2013 and the SATLA Pat Maloney Sr. Courage Award in 2017.

Sonia is married to Jon M. Haynes, an immigration lawyer. They have two children: 13 year-old Joaquin and 8 year-old Sofia.
